The Eucharist Part 18 of 20

Jesus Christ: Yesterday, Today and Forever ~

Today we continue our twenty part series on the Eucharist using Trent Horn's book: 20 Answers-The Eucharist. In case you missed any of the first seventeen, you can find them here <https://www.holyredeemervan.org/documents/colLECTION/pastor-s-column>. This is in keeping with Archbishop Etienne's pastoral letter on the Eucharist that you can find here (in case you missed it) <http://www.seattlearchdiocese.org/Assets/ARCH/NWC-Feature-ABE-Pastoral-Letter-snglpg.pdf>. Enjoy!

May God Bless You,

Question #18:

What is eucharistic adoration?

The Church, of course, adores the Eucharist at every Mass, and treats it with adoring reverence whenever it is transported. The practice popularly called “eucharistic adoration” refers specifically to praying before the Eucharist outside of a liturgical setting, when it has been reserved or exposed in a sacred vessel.

The first recorded instance of eucharistic adoration took place on September 11, 1226, when, “In compliance with the wish of Louis VII, who had just been victorious over the Albigensians [a group of heretics], the Blessed Sacrament, veiled, was exposed in the Chapel of the Holy Cross, as an act of thanksgiving. So great was the throng of adorers that the bishop, Pierre de Corbie, judged it expedient to continue the adoration by night, as well as by day, a proposal that was subsequently ratified by the approval of the Holy See.”

Eucharistic adoration can take place with the Blessed Sacrament exposed in a gold container called a monstrance, or unexposed and kept in the tabernacle. The word tabernacle means “dwelling place”; there is even a feast of tabernacles in Judaism, that is also called the feast of booths or, in Hebrew, Sukkoth. During one part of this feast, temporary shelters are erected in honor of the tents the Israelites dwelled in as they sojourned through the desert. It's fitting, then, that the Eucharist is given its own “dwelling place” in the form of the tabernacle.

According to the Code of Canon Law, “The tabernacle in which the Most Holy Eucharist is reserved is to be situated in some part of the church or oratory which is distinguished, conspicuous, beautifully decorated, and suitable for prayer. “It should also be “immovable, made of solid or opaque material, and locked so that the danger of profanation may be entirely avoided.”

The Code of Canon Law also says, “A special lamp which indicates and honors the presence of Christ is to shine continuously before a tabernacle in which the Most Holy Eucharist is reserved.” According to the general instruction of the Roman Missal, this lamp should be “fueled by oil or wax, [and] should be kept alight to indicate and honor the presence of Christ.” This means that the lamp should generally not be an electric light or candle, though such devices are not explicitly forbidden. The lamp has traditionally been red, but there is no liturgical law or precept that requires it to be any particular color.

During the period of adoration, the faithful may offer up either spontaneous prayers or formal prayers such as the rosary. However, the eucharist may not be exposed for the sole purpose of formal prayers. The congregation for Divine Worship in the 1998 edition of Notitiae said, “One should not expose the Eucharist only to recite the rosary. However, among the prayers that are used during adoration, the recitation of the rosary may certainly be included, emphasizing the Christological aspects with biblical readings relating to the mysteries, and providing time for silent adoration and meditation on them.”

When the Eucharist is exposed for longer periods of time, it is called perpetual adoration. But this should be done only when there is a reasonable certainty that someone will always be able to worship in the presence of the sacrament and not leave it unattended. Redemptionis Sacramentum says that “the Most Holy Sacrament, when exposed, must never be left unattended even for the briefest space of time. It should therefore be arranged that a least some of the faithful always be present at fixed times, even if they take alternating turns.”

Two highlights are some of the largest extent fragments of Wood from the True Cross and a fragment of Our Lady's Veil. The Holy Father has issued a plenary indulgence for all attendees of a Treasures of the Church exposition. Mark your calendar and bring friends and family.

Church Completion Update: The contractor should be turning the building over to us very soon. As soon as that happens we will start readying the Adoration Chapel for use-stay tuned. We are already making lots of preparations so that when we can start things will go fast.

Novena for Father Nathe June 12-20: We will be doing a Novena for Father Nathe starting on the 17th anniversary of his ordination (June 12th) and ending on Father's Day (June 20th). Please join us! You can find the prayers for this novena at the bottom of our home page. If you would like a printed copy feel free to print them off of our website or come by the office to get a copy.

Rummage Sale: We will not be having our annual Rummage Sale in June. There is a possibility that we might have one in the Fall but we will have to see how COVID is doing before planning that. Stay tuned...

Calling all ushers, greeters, lectors, and extraordinary ministers of communion (EMs): We need you-please signup to serve through the end of June using this link: <https://www.signupgenius.com/go/8050444afa82aa46-sign9>

A friendly reminder: Clark County is in phase 3 now so you do not need to signup for Mass. Masks still must be worn so be sure to bring one! Please be welcoming and allow your fellow parishioners to sit next to you-it is kind and safe to do so.

We will continue to record the Masses so that those who cannot attend may participate at home.

Staying Close to Jesus

Angelus: We live stream the Angelus and prayer to Our Lady of Seattle for the end of the coronavirus Monday through Friday at noon and we invite you to join. The prayers are streamed through Facebook Live on our parish Facebook page. You do not need a Facebook account to view the stream. Facebook may prompt you to create an account, but you can simply say "Not Now" and watch the video.

Evening Prayer: To help those at home stay close to Jesus, we have taken this ministry online and are making it more frequent. Join us Monday through Thursday at 5:00pm for Evening Prayer. The prayers are streamed through Facebook Live on our parish Facebook page. Download This Week's Evening Prayers Here
